Reflection for September 5th from Rev. Jack Cox

On this Aug 27th, as I reflect on the readings for the Sunday of Sept 5, I'm comfortably ensconced on Manitoulin Island, on the shore of Lake Kagawong (literally within spitting distance of the water). (This is definitely God's country!) As I looked at the readings for Sept 5, the Gospel jumped out at me. Here we have a gentile woman, coming to Jesus asking him to heal her daughter. Just remember that members of the Jewish community did not associate with gentiles. It would make them (members of the Jewish community) unclean, and so unable to enter the Temple or synagogue. But this gentile woman approaches Jesus to get help for her daughter. Who is this Jesus? He's not a rabbi, not a priest, not a Sadducee, not a Pharisee (all members of the official Jewish establishment). He's a mamser (someone of questionable parentage). The woman's daughter, who is a gentile (and so unclean) also had an unclean 'spirit'. Do you begin to get a sense of the situation Mark is presenting us here?

There is nothing kosher/orthodox about this whole scene. No upstanding Jewish mother would ever have approached Jesus to ask for the healing of her daughter. But this mother comes to Jesus seeking his help. Ask yourself, what did she see in Jesus that prompted her to seek his help as opposed to any of the more traditional avenues of help.

Now, add to this, the response Jesus gives to this mother's request for help. "Let the appropriate (hear Jewish) children come to be healed 1st. It's not right to take their food and give it to the dogs." OUCH! But this mother is absolutely undaunted. "Sir, even the household pets eat the scraps that fall from the family table."

This mother saw something in Jesus those others (even within the Jewish community) didn't see. And her conviction and tenacity impress even Jesus. And Jesus grants her request for her daughter.

So, my question for you is, when the chips are down, where do you go? Who do you turn to? Who do you talk to? Where do you experience the face of God these days?

And in the midst of the ongoing covid crisis these days, this is not an idle question. Vaccinated? Masked? Socially distanced? The threat, the risk seems everywhere. Where do you turn?

The question, for me, really is about where I can encounter the presence of God, the voice of God. Prayer? Reading the bible or other spiritual writings? All of those are possibilities. But sometimes I just need to know I can talk to someone, share my struggles, my faith, my doubts with someone and not just talk to myself. That's what the Christian community is really all about. And it is not about some amorphous 'community'. It's real flesh and blood people. So, to rephrase my question, to whom do you turn when you really need to talk to someone about something that really matters to you? Who embodies, gives real flesh to that community for you?

It's often important for us to identify such people in our lives before the deep need arises, so that, when it does, we know where to go.

I can promise you; God has already given you that gift. Can you identify that gift so that when the need arises, you, like the mother in the gospel, know where to go?

God Bless you in your search! And thank God for the gift that is just waiting to be discovered!

Jack

Prayers of the people - 15th Sunday after Pentecost

Colin Clarke

Praise to you, Almighty God, Lord of all Creation. From you, all good things come into being. Grant us the gift of wisdom to understand the purpose you have for us, that we may live just and gracious lives.

As a new school year begins, we give thanks for all those who have laboured to make the schools and the school transportation services safe for our loved ones. Let your strength carry us all onward.

Lord, you called upon us through your Son to love our neighbours as we love ourselves. We ask that your Spirit guide us to do so during this time of increasing confrontation and conflict among ourselves.

Help us, Heavenly Father, to be good stewards of the earth and all its bounty. Bless the farmers and their workers who have continued to keep us fed throughout the pandemic. Bless the front-line care providers and first responders and their families, that they may all be cared for as they have cared for us.

Grant comfort and peace to those who have lost loved ones. Give them the strength to have Faith that those who have gone before us now enjoy eternal life with you and the whole company of Heaven, and that we will be with them again.

All this we ask, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Amen.

Sing along to this morning's hymns

Hymn Texts – Sunday, September 5, 2021

# 397 - Praise the One Who Breaks the Darkness

1. Praise the one who breaks the darkness with a liberating light.
Praise the one who frees the prisoners, turning blindness into sight.
Praise the one who preached the gospel, healing every dread disease,
Calming storms and feeding thousands with the very bread of peace.
2. Praise the one who blessed the children with a strong yet gentle word.
Praise the one who drove out demons with a piercing two0edged sword.
Praise the one who brings cool water to the desert's burning sand.
From this well comes living water, quenching thirst in every land.
3. Praise the one true love incarnate, Christ who suffered in our place.
Jesus died and rose for many that we may know God by grace.
Let us sing for joy and gladness, seeing what our God has done.
Praise the one redeeming glory, praise the One who makes us one.

# 531 - You Who Dwell in the Shelter of the Lord

1. You who dwell in the shelter of the Lord, who abide in his shadow for life,
Say to the Lord: "My refuge, my rock in whom I trust!"
And he will raise you up on eagle's wings, bear you on the breath of dawn,
Make you to shine like the sun, and hold you in the palm of his hand.
2. Snares of the fowler will never capture you, and famine will bring you no fear:
Under his wings your refuge, his faithfulness your shield.
And he will raise you up on eagle's wings, bear you on the breath of dawn,
Make you to shine like the sun, and hold you in the palm of his hand.
3. You need not fear the terror of the night, nor the arrow that flies by day;
Though thousands fall about you, near you it shall not come.
And he will raise you up on eagle's wings, bear you on the breath of dawn,
Make you to shine like the sun, and hold you in the palm of his hand.
4. For to his angels he's given a command to guard you in all of your ways;
Upon their hands they will bear you up, lest you dash your foot against a stone.
And he will raise you up on eagle's wings, bear you on the breath of dawn,
Make you to shine like the sun, and hold you in the palm of his hand.
