BIBLE STUDIES

Unwavering

‘For I, the Lord,
love justice.’

Isaiah 61:8

I belong to the indigenous Guna people of Panama.

Our Gunadule grandmothers teach that ‘living well’ is ‘living well in community’. So, when I think of God’s goodness, I can’t forget that when God blesses us, he often does so in community.

Each of our actions impacts the lives of others. Life connects us like a web, and whether or not we like it, destruction connects us as well. The good God intends for us is constantly threatened by lifestyles of individualism and consumerism.

As a Christian Gunadule woman, I mourn the suffering of my indigenous brothers and sisters under the direct threat of a changing climate affecting their crops and food. I see them putting their lives at risk to defend the forests, waters and residents of our ancestral lands. These realities tear at my heart, because the injustice we cause to God’s creation is an injustice we commit against God and ourselves.

Jesus, forgive us for when our actions damaged your creation and its inhabitants. Give us greater awareness to understand the struggles faced by indigenous people. Help us to participate in your reconciling work. Amen.

Recommended book

Confessions (Augustine)

The work is not a complete autobiography, as it was written during Saint Augustine's early 40s and he lived long afterwards, producing another important work, The City of God. Nonetheless, it does provide an unbroken record of his development of thought and is the most complete record of any single person from the 4th and 5th centuries. It is a significant theological work, featuring spiritual meditations and insights.

In the work, Augustine writes about how he regrets having led a sinful and immoral life. He discusses his regrets for following the Manichaeon religion and believing in astrology. He writes about his friend Nebridius's role in helping to persuade him that astrology was not only incorrect but evil, and Saint Ambrose's role in his conversion to Christianity. The first nine books are autobiographical and the last four are commentary and significantly more philosophical. He shows intense sorrow for his sexual sins and writes on the importance of sexual morality. The books were written as prayers to God, thus the title, based on the Psalms of David; and it begins with "For Thou hast made us for Thyself and our hearts are restless till they rest in Thee." The work is thought to be divisible into books which symbolize various aspects of the Trinity and trinitarian belief.

History Corner

Constructed in 1844, the church sits in the middle of Vittoria's historic square and is flanked by the United Church (1845), Town Hall (1870) and Baptist Church (1853). This area provides a rare and valuable legacy of early architectural styles of Ontario – the most important being Christ Church. According to University of Toronto professor, Marion MacRae, OC, "of the timber churches which were designed in the continuing Georgian tradition, one of the handsomest yet standing is Christ Church, Vittoria."

The church is constructed entirely of wood, namely native Norfolk County pine. The structure, outside and in, displays a number of Regency characteristics, a style popular at the time. The exterior is clad with flush-boarding, beveled on either matching edge, and grooved to imitate the joints of masonry. The corners of the building are finished with heavier pieces of plank arranged to form cornerstones. The overall wood detail makes the church look like it has been constructed solely of carved stone. This particular characteristic is what makes the building so important. According to the Ontario Heritage Trust - Ministry of Tourism and Culture, the church is the last of its style from this period in all of Ontario and likely the entire country.

Punchline

By Jim Pepper

Handyman versus a Handy Man

My Lab, Bear, needs exercise. He loves to retrieve a rubber dummy. This morning I was doing just that when I noticed something. My new Kansas City Chiefs banner that I'd hung on the wall of the patio was lying on the porch... blown down by the overnight wind... I see the problem; the grommets had slipped off the screw heads that I'd put into the wall.

Easy fix for a handy man... I'll just put a washer under each screw head... That'll hold it in place... Aha, here's a pair of left-over vinyl washers attached together by a vinyl strip. Out with my trusty Cabela's combo jack-knife... great purchase for the handy man... so glad I bought it. Right through that thin strip like a hot knife through butter, and of course also right into my finger... Time out for a band-aid... Into the house... My sweetie inquired what I was doing... Doesn't she know after over 50 years that I'm being a handy man?

Back to the porch with the new washers and two new, neat brass screws especially chosen to rehang the precious banner, attach the new washers onto said screws and back into the brick wall... Screw number one went just as planned... Now for the second... Hmm.. It seems to be turning too easily... Oh it broke... I'll just get another... Into the wall with the new one only to run into what was left of the broken original... I'll just drill it out with a metal bit and away we'll go... Slick as a buttered eel on a marble floor... Worked like a charm until I went to take out the drill bit and burned my fingers... Darn friction... Never thought about that... Not even the cut finger... Oh no, let's spread the pain out.

Anyway, time to put in the new screw... Grab my super-duper handy man $ 45H automatic screw driver, get up on the ladder, and the bit drops out... The porch is well designed with cracks between the boards to allow any rain-water to easily drain away. Unfortunately, I've also found that anything valuable that happens to fall magically will find one of those cracks and drop right through... Oh well, I'll just get another screwdriver bit... No way... They would never dream of having just any bit fit the super #45H... Success, a Dollar Store model works perfectly... Glad I spent $15 on the #45H!

Back to the porch, and wonder of wonders it all works... The banner has stayed right there through all this strange spring weather... The joys of being a handy man...

Oh, I forgot to mention that I forgot about Bear... He's a Lab, and they eat anything... Bored with cuts, burns, broken screws, etc., he decided to chew the end off his new dummy rather than wait for Handy Jim... Add $17.95 to the bill...

Oh joy - but the banner sure does look good - GO CHIEFS!!!

Your Love Is A Gift

Mom, your love is a gift to me.
No matter what I do,
Whatever challenge I inflict,
You always see me through.

You're strong and steady as the earth,
Bringing peace amid the storm,
Tethering me to stability,
Your love keeps me safe and warm.

Without you, mom, I'd fly away
From all that's right and good.
"Could you help me, Mom?" I often ask.
"Yes," you say; "I could."

Your love is a gift, my marvelous mom.
You're my link to sanity.
I often wish I were more like you,
And maybe, someday I'll be.

May

May is the fifth month of the year in the Gregorian and Julian calendar. It is likely named for the Roman goddess Maia, who oversaw the growth of plants. Alternatively, the name might have come from the Latin maiores, "elders," who were celebrated.

May's birthstone is the emerald which is emblematic of love and success. The birth flowers are the Lily of the Valley and Hawthorn. The zodiac signs are Taurus (until May 19) and Gemini (May 20 onwards).

Taste & See

TURKEY BREAST KIEV

Ingredients

For the herb butter:

- 1 Tbsp fresh tarragon, chopped
- 4 Tbsp fresh parsley, chopped
- 1 Tbsp chives, chopped
- 1 Tbsp fresh lemon juice
- 2 garlic cloves, chopped
- ½ tsp ground black pepper
- 6 Tbsp butter, at room temperature

For the breading:

- 2 eggs, beaten
- ¾ cup flour
- 1 ½ cup panko
- ¾ cup vegetable oil (for cooking)

For the spinach:

- 1 tsp olive oil (for cooking)
- 2 cups fresh spinach, roughly cut

For the turkey:

- 2.25 lb turkey breast cut in 6 cutlets
- ½ tsp salt

Instructions

For the herb butter:

1. In a bowl, put the chopped fresh herbs, lemon juice, garlic, pepper and butter. Mix all ingredients well using a fork.
2. Wrap the butter mixture in a plastic wrap and shape it into a roll about 1 inch thick. Put the herb butter in the freezer for at least 30 minutes.

For the spinach:

3. Heat olive oil in a skillet. Let the spinach wilt until the water has evaporated. Set aside and let cool.

For the turkey breast rolls:

4. Preheat the oven to 400F.
5. Insert the turkey breast cutlets between two sheets of parchment paper. Flatten the turkey using a meat mallet (or a rolling pin) until the cutlets are about 5 mm thick.
6. Season turkey pieces with salt.
7. Take the herb butter out of the freezer and cut in 6 equal parts.
8. Take one cutlet and fill with 1/6 of the spinach and 1 part of butter in the center. Roll the meat around the butter and the spinach, making sure sides are folded inside the roll. Secure roll with toothpicks. Repeat for each cutlet.
9. Put eggs, flour and panko in three separate bowls.
10. Coat each turkey roll with flour and shake off excess flour. Then, dip into the egg mix and coat with panko.
11. Heat vegetable oil in a skillet (about ½ inch thick). The amount of oil used could vary depending on the size of the skillet. Fry the turkey rolls for about 3 to 5 minutes on each side, until they start browning. Using baking tongs, turn rolls only one time during cooking to avoid piercing the rolls.
12. Once the rolls have browned, put on a baking sheet lined with parchment paper and cook in the oven for 20 minutes, or until turkey is fully cooked (see note).
13. Serve with mashed potatoes, rice, green vegetables or a salad!

Notes: You can check the doneness of the meat by inserting a meat thermometer in the turkey breast. The meat is cooked when it reaches an internal temperature of 165°F.
